G. Read the excerpt from 'The Adventures of Tom Sawyer' by Mark Twain and answer the questions that follow. (20 points)

مقطع من قصة "توم سوير" للكاتب مارك توين

- (1) TOM'S mind was made up now. He was gloomy and hopeless. He was a hated, friendless boy, he said. Nobody loved him. When they found out what they had driven him to, perhaps they would be sorry. He had tried to do right and get along, but they would not let him. Nothing satisfies them but not to see him again, so let it be so and let them blame him for what happens. Why shouldn't they? What right had the friendless to complain? Yes, they had made him do it at last. He would lead a life of crime. There was no choice.
- (2) By this time he was far down Meadow Lane, and the bell for school rang faintly (weakly) upon his ear. He cried, now, to think he should never, never hear that old familiar sound any more—it was very hard, but it was forced on him. Since he was driven out into the cold world, he must give in—but he forgave them. Then the tears came thick and fast.
- (3) Just at this point he met his best friend, Joe Harper—hard-eyed, and with a gloomy purpose in his heart. Here were "two souls with but a single thought." Tom, wiping his eyes with his sleeve, began to blubber out something about his decision to escape from hard usage and lack of love at home by wandering abroad into the great world never to return. He ended by hoping that Joe would never forget him.
- (4) However, it happened that Joe had come to tell Tom the same thing. His mother had punished him for drinking some cream which he had never tasted and knew nothing about. It was clear that she was tired of him and wished him to go. If she felt that way, there was nothing for him to do but leave the house. He hoped she would be happy, and never will be sorry for making her poor boy enter the unfeeling world to suffer and die.
- (5) As the two boys walked along, they promised each other that they would to stay together till they die. Then they began to make their plans. Joe wanted to live alone in a faraway cave, and die, some time, of cold and want and grief. But after listening to Tom, he thought it would be better to lead a life of crime, and so he decided to be a pirate.
